WHAT IS GRAVITATION?

Some Examples That Seem to Answer the Weighty Question.

Two men at antipodes on the earth's surface are drawn directly toward each other. Each is at the apex of a cone of the other. These cones intersect at the center of the earth and are there equal, but the greater part of the mass of each one and consequently the greater mass of gravity holding each to his place is past the center of the earth and culminates at the feet of the other.

Every point of the earth's surface pulls in a straight line through the center of the earth, not stopping at it; losing part of the pound in proportion as it approaches the center; then, passing, regaining it again in proportion as it approaches the opposite surface. So that half way past the center the pound which at the center was nothing, has now become a half pound, and at the antipodal surface a pound again.

Make the center of the earth the common apex of an indefinite number of cones radiating to the surface. According to mass, gravity pulls from the center, and the center is again the point of negation.

If gravity is an active essence produced by molecular motion, if being a living essence, it is therefore a perishable one, it follows that in a conglomerate mass, as the earth, some substances will probably exhaust sooner than others by reason of expiration of molecular activity, if that be its producer, or from other or any cause. Being an active expending force, it must have a producer, and that producer must have supplies of force producing matter. These supplies, however great, must exhaust. Different qualities of matter may contain this force producing quality in differing degrees and quantities. If so, the minor will sooner exhaust. A feather, a leaden ball and a dry stick will fall through space to our atmosphere with equal speed because their atoms and the atoms of the earth mutually attract each other regardless of shape or size. Gravity is atomic, and every atom is the equal of every other atom, no matter how diffuse or how concrete the mass of the object of which they are parts. But the dry stick may have lost its active principle—gravity. Its essence producing principles may have been exhausted. Nevertheless it would be grasped by the overwhelming gravity of the earth and brought down in company with its fellows.

Gravity pulls laterally as well as perpendicularly. The weight of the earth has been calculated from the pull of a mountain on a plumb line.

A person standing in a narrow canyon, with walls towering hundreds or thousands of feet above him on either side, has much better footing than if on the pinnacle of a mountain. In one case he is held up by lateral gravity. In the other he is without support.—R. W. Musser in Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is a fallacy to suppose that people who wear cork legs and glass eyes are indifferent to their personal appearance. They are often vainier than ordinary individuals.

A rich man, for instance, who is obliged to wear an artificial eye will wear three different eyes every day—an eye for morning, when the pupil is not very large; an eye for afternoon, when the pupil is smaller; an eye for evening, when the pupil has extended to its full size.

A London eyemaker, who gave this information, said he made about an equal proportion of glass eyes for men and women. Some people keep quite a stock in their possession. In fact, no less than 12 eyes have been made by my informant for one gentleman within three months.

His son had got one eye made from measurement, and that eye fitted so perfectly that the old gentleman, in an outburst of gratitude, wrote off for 11 other eyes. The eyemaker admitted that this was an exceptional instance.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Wise Man. He (disagreeably)—What the mischief, is the matter with this dinner? She (mildly)—I cooked it, dear. He—Well, I was wondering what made it so much better than usual.—Detroit Free Press.

Fine tooth combs of brass and ivory have been dug up from Roman tombs, and from certain altitudes found in the Latin poets it is evident that they were greatly needed by the ladies of the world's metropolis.

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION REQUESTED.

A BOLD ASSERTION.

Ever since Prof. Koch started the world by promising to cure consumption with the Koch lymph and his complete failure to do so, the people have been looking for some discovery which would prove an absolute cure for that dread disease. Over a certain cure for that dread disease. Over a certain cure for that dread disease. Over a certain cure for that dread disease.

His "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured many thousands of people in all parts of the world, and Dr. Pierce writes all interested and used in his extensive practice, that would cure ninety-eight per cent of all cases of consumption when taken in all its early stages. Time has proved that his assertion was based on facts gained from experience.

Consumption, as most everybody knows, is first manifested by feeble vitality, loss of strength, emaciation; then local symptoms soon develop, as cough, difficult breathing, or bleeding from lungs, when deposits have formed in the lungs. It is earnestly advised that the "Discovery" be taken early and the latter stages of the disease can thereby be easily avoided.

To build up solid flesh and strength after the grip, pneumonia, ("lung fever"), exhausting fevers, and other prostrating diseases, it has no equal. It does not make fat like cod liver oil, and its nasty compounds, but, solid, wholesome flesh.

C. NOVACOVICH,

According to reports from Washington, the Reilly Funding bill, which was recommended last Saturday, will not again be reported to the House. It is dead beyond hope of resurrection and some other method of settling the railroad indebtedness will have to be devised. The roll shows that every member of Congress from the Pacific Coast voted to recommend the bill. All the members did not have opportunity to speak on the measure, but Maguire and Bowers of California were accorded the privilege and made telling points against its passage. Newslands of Nevada was true to its pledges and voted against it, thus silencing the carping critics, who have been alleging that he would vote for the bill if he voted at all.

Among those who were paired on the bill were Reed of Maine and Cochran of Nevada. Inquiry failed to reveal how these gentlemen intended to vote and the impression is that they would have voted on the same side.

As the only bonds which will mature in the current fiscal year—that of the Central Pacific for $2,362,400—has been paid and the Government cannot foreclose until there is a default in payment of the bonds, the Congress which meets next December will have time to deal with the question. Party lines and even sectional lines were ignored in disposing of the bill last Saturday, though, as a general rule, Eastern members were in favor of passing the bill and Western members were opposed to its passage and voted to recommit.

GOOD ADVICE

The National Watchman, printed in the shadow of the National Capitol, gives some very excellent advice to the law makers. It says there is no need of increasing the rate of tariff taxation to make up the deficit in Government receipts. If the people could afford to buy, if there was sufficient money in the country to buy with, the National Treasury would experience no lack of funds. The difficulty is not in the rate of taxation, but in the inability of the people to purchase what they want. Give the people money enough by keeping them at work at remunerative wages and the question of National revenue will be solved at once. Unless times change for the better there must be a larger deficit next year than there is this year and every one with a thumb full of brains ought to know it. Give us free coinage of silver and it will go a long way toward solving the financial problem and making times better than they have been for years. Issuing bonds for gold does not increase the effective money, as the gold is shipped out of the country, as the interest on the bonds will be as it accrues.

THE STANDARD DOLLAR.

The question whether the dollar or unit of money provided for by the first act of Congress relating to coinage should be gold or silver has been discussed on various occasions. In 1792 the United States mint was established at Philadelphia and an act of Congress of that year provided for the coinage of "dollars or units, each to be of the value of a Spanish milled dollar as the same is now current, and to contain three hundred and seventy-one and four-sixteenths parts of a grain of pure silver or four hundred and sixteen grains of standard silver."

The standard dollar of to-day contains the same number of grains of silver, as the dollar provided for in 1792. The dollar of 1792 was a legal tender for all debts and the mints were open to all to have silver coined into such dollars. Under that law the country grew and prospered, as it would to-day if the act of 1892 had not been repealed in the interest of the bond holders.

No government has a right to farm out or allow a certain class of its citizens to conduct a monopoly unrestrained and unrestricted. To claim that it had would be to advocate the doctrine that the government could authorize one of its subjects to exact tribute from all the balance of its subjects.

John Stewart Mill says: "The labor which terminates in the production of an article fitted for some human use is either employed directly about the thing, or in previous operations destined to facilitate perhaps essential to the possibility of the subsequent ones."

The National Watchman says the Nicaragua Canal bill is simply a proposition to steal $70,000,000 from the United States Treasury, and yet there are Republicans in the Nevada Legislature who would censure Senators Stewart and Jones for not voting for the steal.

OFFICIAL reports show that 332 lives were lost by the sinking of the steamer Elbe. Of those aboard 50 were cabin passengers, 149 steerage and a crew of 133 persons. Only twenty persons were saved of whom five were passengers.

YESTERDAY Representative Outwater reported the special order permitting debate on the new currency bill until 3:30 on Thursday, when voting will begin on the bill and amendments.

The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen have revoked the franchise granted the trolley roads on account of the strike.

DENNIS VS. CAUGHLIN.

Judge Talbot's Decision in the Sheriff's Case.

In the case of John H. Dennis, plaintiff and contestant, vs. William H. Coughlin, defendant and contestee, involving the Sheriff's office, Judge Talbot's decision was filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday. The Judge recites the fact that at the general election November 6, 1894, the candidates for Sheriff of Washoe county were W. H. Coughlin, Republican; John Hayes, Democrat, and G. O. McNeese, People's party. On the canvass of the votes by the Commissioners Coughlin appears to have had 25 votes more than Hayes, who had the next highest vote, and the certificate of election was issued to Coughlin. The contestant Dennis brought this proceeding to contest Coughlin, and alleges misconduct on the part of the Board of Inspectors and that illegal votes were given in various precincts. On the hearing of the contest the allegations concerning illegal votes being cast by non-residents was waived and it was stipulated that "all returns and all ballots of each and every precinct shall be examined and considered, and all legal ballots counted for whom cast." All ballots objected to were numbered and temporarily counted for the candidates, but all questions regarding their validity were reserved for future consideration. On his temporary rating Coughlin had 567 unmarked and 23 marked, Hayes had 572 unmarked and 20 marked, McNeese had 500 unmarked and 5 marked, but of the ballots objected to 11 were counted for Coughlin as unmarked and 17 were counted for Hayes as unmarked. Eleven deducted from 567 leaves 556, the number conceded to Coughlin, and 17 deducted from 572 leaves 555, the number conceded to Hayes, with the ballots under objection to be considered. At Salt Marsh 26 votes were cast, of which Coughlin received 19 and Hayes 3. These ballots had been written on them "Justice of the Peace, J. F. Bonham; Constable, H. W. Bonham." It was stipulated that these names were written by a member of the Election Board without the knowledge or consent of the voters before the ballots were delivered to them. The Bonhams had not been nominated by any convention and had not filed any petition as required by the statute. Does the unauthorized insertion of those names by the Inspectors of Election without any action on the part of the voter except the casting of their ballots invalidate them?

The Court recites the methods in vogue in various States for determining the choice of the elector and holds that under the Australian Ballot law the principal object is to secure the secrecy of the ballot. All authorities are to the effect that when the legislative intent is clear it is mandatory. The statutes of 1891, page 43, directs every candidate that is properly certified on nomination or petition, and no other name. Section 26, page 28, provides "that any ballot upon which appears names, words or marks, written or printed, except as in this Act provided shall not be counted." The Court finds no decision that under such a statute would permit the counting of ballots upon which appeared unauthorized names. It has been held that extra names or numbers printed on ballots where they are similar on all did not render them void, but the law in these cases did not contain the direct prohibition, nor one like that in section 11 of our statute, which directs that "ballots other than those printed as provided in this Act shall not be cast or counted in any election." Though the same names were written upon all, the variation in the writing might make it easy to distinguish one ballot from another, and would open the door for fraud in the future. Numerous authorities are quoted in support of this view, and all the ballots from Salt Marsh are rejected.

The tally list and poll list from Glendale were found to be in proper form. The check list was on sheets of account book paper unperfected. The ballots had apparently not been tampered with—the number who voted, 99. The boxes were not kept in a vault in the Clerk's office, but from the evidence the Court concluded that no one had meddled with them. The returns gave Coughlin 57; Hayes 24, and McNeese 23. This would leave 12 blanks for Sheriff out of 99 votes. The Court counted the ballots twice and found for Coughlin unmarked 34; marked 1; for Hayes, unmarked, 35; marked, 2; for McNeese, unmarked, 22; marked, 1, leaving four blank. As these returns show a much larger per centage of blanks than those from any other precinct, and for the reasons before indicated, the Court concludes they are wrong and the count made by the Court correct.

Relative to the objections to single ballots, No. 27 has an X partly erased after McNeese; No. 28 has "Yes" written on it twice after U. S. Senator; 29 has "Yes" after U. S. Senator; 30 has an X after Laherty, which has been crossed out with pencil marks; 32 has the X after Coughlin partly erased; 33 has X's above the line after short term and long term and Senator. Some of the X's are in the squares and some to the left and just to the right of the names of the candidates. The marks to the right of Hayes and Young resemble to lying horizontal. No. 35 has X's made on numerous intersecting lines. The mark after Peckham has seven lines crossing at various angles; 36 has a yellow stain, evidently made with tobacco juice, running from the names of the candidates for Sheriff to the bottom of the ballot; 37 has the word "No" after U. S. Senator crossed over with pencil marks; 38 has X's consisting of more than two intersecting lines and X's covering "vote," "no" and other words and lines not following a name; 39 has a round black spot made with a pencil after Hogan; 40 has a short heavy straight pencil mark in the square after the blank space below Winters. On 41 the word "no" after Senator is crossed out; 44 has some pencil marks after Noyes, probably crossing out an X; 45 has a mark resembling a six-pointed star after Dougherty; 46 has XV with a slight extra mark after Bartine and Cleveland; "Yes" is written after U. S. Senator on No. 48. On 49 the mark after Bartine resembles a y and there is a faint pencil mark after Knox; 50 has an X with a perpendicular mark through it after Newlands; 51 has X's consisting of more than two intersecting straight lines. There are lines crossing after Westerfield and a mark resembling an inverted V after Stanley. The "No" after U. S. Senator is crossed out on 52. On 53 there is a dark spot and a six-pronged X after the "No" following U. S. Senator; 54 has a black spot made with a pencil after Linn, and a heavy mark with several lines resembling a V after Norcross; 55 has X's consisting of more than two intersecting lines after La Grave and Cutting, 57 is marked with a blue indelible pencil and the X after Hayes has five more lines, and there is a short straight pencil mark after Hyman; 59 has X's with more than two lines and marks after Hayes; 60 has X's consisting of numerous marks in the squares and on lines not following names; 60½ has two lines in the squares and a mark after Bartine and Dougherty resembles a large H; 62 has marks with more than two intersecting lines after Cleveland and Peers; 63 has the word "no" crossed after Senator; 64 has "No" written after the amendment; 65 has long lines crossing out the amendments; 66½ has the "No" crossed out after the amendments and 66½ has "No" written after the amendments. These five ballots were rejected by the election boards in the several wards in Reno. No. 66 has a straight mark in the square after Laherty; 67 has X's partially crossed after Robinson and Hayes, and new X's put after Stanley and Coughlin, and there is a V after Richard. No. 68 has marks with more than two intersecting straight lines; 69 has the cross marked out in the square after amendment 21; 70 has a pencil mark after the Assemblymen and a six prong mark after Linn; No. 71 has pencil marks after Westerfield and Porter, obliterating X's; on 72 there is an erasure of a mark after Coughlin, and five pronged X's after Currier, Hale and Evans; on 73 the X's are crossed at the top and bottom; 74 has a blurred pencil mark after Eckley, 75 has a break in the paper and two X's after Morris; on 76 there is a six pronged X after Polson, and the word "no" have marks consisting of numerous lines after candidates and on 79 the pencil markings in several squares resemble V's and check marks.

Considering these ballots together the Court says if we look to temporary purposes only it seems too bad to reject them for errors apparently trivial, but if the Courts depart from the rule laid down in the statutes that they shall only bear a cross or X made with a black lead pencil, they go to see without a compass, open the door for bribery and intimidation in the future and nullify the effect sought by the reformed system.

Numerous authorities are quoted in support of this view. Section 12 of our Act provides:

The political designation of each candidate shall be printed opposite his name * * * There shall be a margin at the right hand side of the names at least one half inch wide so that the voter may indicate in the way herein after prescribed, the candidate for whom he wishes to vote.

Section 20. He shall prepare his ballot by marking a cross or X after the name of the person for whom he intended to vote for each office.

Section twenty-seven declares it a felony to make any mark on any ballot or stub by which the ballot can be distinguished from other ballots, and section thirty makes it a misdemeanor for any voter to place any mark upon his ballot by which it may be afterwards identified as the one voted by him.

In the language of the District Court of Humboldt county in the case Cozens vs. Russell, December 1892, "It will be observed that section 12 provides that the margin where the voter shall mark his ballot shall be at the right hand side of the names, while the political designation of the candidate shall be printed opposite his name. It is difficult to see in what respect the voter has failed to comply with the statutory requirements when he placed the X between the name of the candidate and his political designations. It is in a space at the right hand side of the name." True someone in preparing his ballot has indicated a marking space further to the right, but it may be questionable which has followed the statute most closely. The ballots so marked plainly and accurately expressed the voters choice, fairly comply with the statute and should be counted. Numbers 31, 43, 47 and 61 will be counted for Coughlin, and with number 42 before mentioned be added to his 556. Numbers 34, 56 and 58 will be added to Hayes' 535. Of the legal votes cast this will give Coughlin 561, Hayes 553, and McNeese 500.

It is ordered that this action of proceeding be dismissed, and that defendant and contestee have judgment for his costs herein expended.

THE KILLING OF GEORGE HJUL.

Full Particulars of the Accident.
Last Saturday the Journal stated the fact that George Hjul, formerly a student of the University and the youngest son of County Treasurer Hjul of Eureka had been accidentally killed by his brother. The particulars of the accident are given by the Sentinel as follows:

Friday afternoon George and Charles Hjul and another young man, whose name we are unable to learn, were in the store of P. Hjul. George and the young man were sitting down engaged in conversation, and Charles was examining a rifle, his position being immediately in front of his brother. A cartridge which he was holding in his hand dropped to the floor, and, picking it up he inserted it in the rifle when it went off with the above result. The ball entered the right breast making a frightful wound, and death must have been almost instantaneous. The father, mother, brother and sister are almost distracted in consequence. The deceased was an exemplary young man, about eighteen years of age and a great favorite with all his companions. He was a graduate of the State University, and his future was promising and bright. He was idolized by his parents. We are unable to express in words the feeling of sympathy that is manifested in this community for the family over their loss. It will be many years ere the anguish caused by yesterday's accident will have passed. May God comfort the afflicted in their hour of bereavement.

POWDER IN STOVE WOOD.

Narrow Escape of a Family From Death.

At Newcastle, California, the family of William Freitas, including four adults and a baby, were burned and bruised and the residence destroyed by an explosion of a loaded stick of firewood, and fire which followed the explosion this evening.

The members of the family were comfortably seated around a stove, the fire having a few moments previously been replenished with a big piece of wood, when suddenly there was a terrific explosion, the concussion hurling the four grown persons to the floor and blowing the babe from its chair across the room. The fragments of the stove flew about like a charge of canister and blazing bits of wood rained fire in the room.

As soon as the frightened, burned and bruised inmates recovered from the shock they ran from the house, carrying the baby with them. They escaped none to soon, for wherever the blazing embers, struck flames sprang up, and hardly had the family left the house when the flames burst through the windows. The dwelling was entirely destroyed. The Freitas were sheltered by neighbors and those most severely injured are resting comfortably.

It was ascertained that the firewood used had been split in the log with a giant powder. One charge of powder apparently had not exploded in the wood, and it was this, in a piece of cord wood that exploded and shattered the stove.

ASSEMBLY.

Met at 11 a. m., Speaker Allen presiding.

Roll call, prayer by the Chaplain and reading of the Journal as usual.

THE HARDIN-FRANCIS CONTEST.

The report of Sergeant-at-Arms Flannery was read stating that he had complied with the instructions of the Assembly in procuring the ballots cast in Humboldt county at the last general election, and that County Clerk L. F. Dunn, with the ballots desired was within the call of the House.

Denton offered a resolution that the ballots be counted and the result decided by the Assembly, and in order to facilitate the matter a committee of five be appointed by the Speaker to count the ballots and report the result at earliest convenience.

Allen of Eureka moved to amend by referring it to the Judiciary Committee. Carried.

On motion of Noel this amendment was reconsidered.

Hogan moved indefinite postponement on the grounds that this body had nothing to do with the matter. It belonged to the courts to decide. This body could not unseat Mr. Francis; it had no legal right to commit such a wrong.

Denton—We have the right and we are here to decide which is entitled to this contested seat and should do justice in the matter without fear or favor.

Francis—When this matter was first brought up I did not side with Mr. Hogan to indefinitely postpone it, but now I do. He read Judge Mack's decision regarding those Rebel Creek ballots, which cut such an essentially important figure in this case, declaring them illegal by reason of the number not being torn off, and said: "Mr. Hardin has had every facility and opportunity given him to prove his case." I ask no special privileges, but merely simple honest justice and nothing more.

Gorman wanted to hear if we are to be governed by District Court decisions in this matter and argued against indefinite postponement.

Denton—Let's open those boxes and count the ballots. Let the voice of the people of Humboldt county be heard and done justice by. Let nobody be disfranchised.

Francis—It is not this particular case but it establishes a precedent in future cases. No one should be able to say that he can and will appeal from the Australian ballot law to the Legislature. In all justice I am elected by fourteen majority.

Conbole wanted to see this matter adjusted in the most direct and expeditious manner without any more fooling.

Allen—I don't think we should have on our line this matter at all, or sent for the ballots. The contestant had not complied with the law from the first and we should have left him to appeal to the decision of the courts.

A motion to indefinitely postpone the whole subject matter was lost by a vote of 15 to 8; absent, 7.

Allen moved that the ballots be brought before the House and all counted.

Gorman objected, saying that would take too much time, and only a few ballots were contested as illegal.

Allen—We would have to count them all, legal or illegal.

Conbole would amend that proposal

tion by dropping the word "legal" and count according to the intention of the voter.

Francis—On that point there was one vote found upon which was written "This vote was bought for $2.50; what are you going to do with that?"

Allen wanted the ballots all brought before the House and examined and discussed where all could see and judge of them.

Denton—We have no right to lose time in this way. We were elected on a great expense and should act accordingly. No time should thus be thrown away by the whole House when a committee could attend to the matter.

On motion recess was taken at 12:30 till 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Coryell was granted leave of absence for the rest of the day.

Allen of Eureka withdrew his motion to refer to the Judiciary Committee.

Wieland withdrew his motion for the appointment of a committee of five, and Denton withdrew his motion for the adoption of the original resolution.

The Speaker stated the question before the House to be whether the ballots should be brought into the Assembly Chamber to be canvassed.

McNaughton presented a resolution that a committee of three be appointed, one to be selected by each of the contestants and the other by the Speaker and that no one be allowed within the bar of the Assembly Chamber except members and officers of the Assembly.

The Clerk of Humboldt county and the newspaper reporters while the committee is engaged in the presence of the Assembly. Carried.

Mr. Noel was selected by contestant Hardin; Mr. Flannigan by contestant Francis, and Mr. Denton by the Speaker to act as the required committee.

The ballots being in the express office, while awaiting their arrival, the House proceeded to the regular order of business.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Noel, A. B. No. 37.—Fixing the salaries of certain county and township officers in Storey county. Referred to the Storey county delegation.

By Allen—Fixing the salary of the Treasurer of Eureka county. Eureka delegation.

By Gorman—To provide for the maintenance of public schools. Education.

By Pitt—Act to provide for two dormitories and for the purchase of additional land for the State University. Appropriates $38,000 for such purpose. Education.

By Wilson—Act to create a Board of Capitol Building Commissioners—Making the Governor, Controller and Treasurer such Board. Ways and Means.

By McNaughton—Act concerning the government of the State Prison—Reduces salaries of several officers; appropriates $250 per annum for pay of Chaplain, and provides for a Bible for each convict. State Prison Committee.

By McDonald—Act to provide for the preservation of fish. Ways and Means.

By McDonald—Act for the preservation of sage fowl, beavers and others. Ways and Means.

A. C. R. relative to the construction of the Nicaragua canal. Federal Relations.

THE HARDIN-FRANCIS CONTEST RESUMED.

The Sergeant-at-Arms presented L. F. Dunn, clerk of Humboldt county, who announced that he had brought with him the ballots of that county for the last general election in obedience to the order of the Assembly.

He was followed by two stout men, logging in a huge dry goods box containing the ballots. The box was placed on the floor of the Midway Plaisance in front of the Speaker's seat. Clerk's desks in full view of the members and the spectators in the galleries. The box was opened and a big table ranged beside it.

The Special Committee at 3:10 p. m. commenced the canvass or counting of ballots with the Clerk and Assistant Clerk of the Assembly acting as tally men. It being understood that all of the ballots were to be counted regardless of legal or other technicalities.

There was no contention or excitement and the proceedings were considerably tame and monotonous.

The counting was concluded at 5:30 and the Assembly called to order, all in their seats again.

Noel of Special Committee declared the result of the recount as follows: There are 931 votes, of which Mr. Hardin has 465, and Mr. Francis 466, giving Mr. Francis a majority of one.

Report adopted and committee discharged.

Allen of Eureka presented the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House that the recount of the votes just had determines the fact that Mr. Francis is the lawful member hereof. Adopted.

The Assembly was adjourned.

I felt the breath of the expiring year
Pass in the morning breeze, and to my sight
Glistened each star, as 'twere a frozen tear
Upon the mute and lonesome face of night.
Time, in our breathe, that slumbers not nor sleeps,
Marks the faint murmur of eternity
As ever round with rhythmic impulse sweeps
Sweet little eddy of the life to be.

We look, and, lo! afar doth stretch the deep
With ebb and flow amid the storm and calm,
Raising its thunderous praises to heaven's steep
Or chanting to the shore a lowly psalm.
While in the cars that hear, from little hearts
That shrink and swell as with imprisoned love,
Steel o'er the silence of their inmost parts
The nearer echoes of a voice above.
—Thomas Harkness in Chambers' Journal.

THE NUMBER THREE.
Some Curious Superstitions Regarding It in the Popular Mind.
There is a superstitious regard for the number three in the popular mind, and the third repetition of anything is generally looked upon as a crisis. Thus an article may twice be lost and recovered, but the third time that it is lost it is gone for good. Twice a man may pass through some great danger in safety, but the third time he loses his life. If, however, the mystic three can be successfully passed, all is well. Three was called by Pythagoras the perfect number, and we frequently find its use symbolical of Deity. Thus we might mention the trident of Neptune, the three forked lightning of Jove and three headed dog of Pluto. The idea of trinity is not confined to Christianity, but occurs in several religions.
In mythology also we find three fates, three furies and three graces, and, coming nearer to our own times, Shakespeare introduces his three witches. In public house signs three seems to play an important part, for we frequently meet with "Three Cops," "Three Jolly Sailors," "Three Bells," "Three Tuns," "Three Feathers"—in fact, the number of almost anything of which a fertile imagination can conceive a trio. In nursery rhymes and tales this number is not unknown, and if we look back to the days of our childhood most of us will call to mind the three wise men of Gotham who took a sea voyage in a bowl, not to mention the three blind mice that had their tails cut off by the farmer's wife. Perhaps there is some occult power in the number which governs the division of novels into three volumes and induces doctors to order their medicine to be taken three daily. It is said that some tribes of savages cannot count beyond three. But, although they may have no words to express higher numbers, perhaps we should be scarcely justified in assuming that they are incapable of appreciating the value of the latter.—New York Advertiser.

The Old Time Singing School.
In the old colonial days when the great and the great-grandchildren were young the singing school was a well established institution, writes Mary E. Estey in a very accurate article telling exactly how "the old time concert" may be reproduced at a church entertainment in Ladies' Home Journal. It was usually held in the village school-house, the schoolmaster often figuring as the singing master. Thither at regular intervals through the long winter months tripped the grandmas with their escorts. Little did they imagine as they lifted up their sweet voices in unison with the strong tenors and basses that those same airs, even the very gowns they wore, would at some distant day be reproduced for the benefit of an appreciative audience. Yet it may be safely asserted that with the exception of the colonial tea the old folks' concert is the most popular of the old time entertainments.
The success of an undertaking of this sort depends largely upon the adaptability for her office of the person having the affair in hand. She must of necessity have an accurate conception of the manner in which these entertainments were conducted in our grandfathers' day. She must also become thoroughly imbued with the spirit of that olden time.
The Polite British Waiter.
The extreme politeness of the average English waiter is a continual source of merriment.
He thanks you when he brings your soup, again when he brings your napkin, when he takes away your plate, when he happens to find you looking at him—in fact, he says, "Thank you," at every turn, and says it in such a jerky, mechanical fashion that you cannot repress a smile. His example is followed by the bus conductor, who thanks you for your fare and thanks you again when he hands you your ticket, and by the theater usher when he seats you, and by every servant you meet, in the most inappropriate manner. They overdo the "thank you" business, and always employ the same jerky manner and mechanical tone.—Chicago Record.
